GAME PLAY

A starting player draw a card from their hands and turn it over quickly on the top cards of any other player's field. (Let's call this another player as player "A")

*Turn the card over away from you to ensure that you do not see the card before the other players. The faster you turn over the card, the sooner you will also see it.

*The new card must cover the top card of the field completely.

A) If the top cards of starting player's field and Player A's field are different, starting player or Player A must grab the object that is shown on their field. Other players do nothing at this situation.

- If the top card of your field is Banana, you must grab Banana and hit Player A's head before Player A defend.

- If the top card of your field is Coconut, you must grab the Coconut bowl and defend Banana attack.

If a player succeeds to hit with banana before Coconut defense or to defend before Banana attack, the player becomes a new starting player.

If a player grabs wrong object, the opponent player becomes a new starting player.

- B) If the top cards of starting player's field and Player A's field are same, every player in the game has chance to grab an object with shouting "Oookiki!". They must grab an object which is not shown on 2 filed. For example, if a starting player turn over "Banana" on the Player A's filed while Starting player has "Banana" on his field also, everybody should try to grab "Coconut bowl"

The player who grabs the correct object with shouting "Oookiki" becomes a new starting player to player the new round.

The objects should be placed back on the middle of the table after a round.

GAME ENDS

When a player wins the round with their last card, the player wins the game. If they failed to win the round with the last card, they have to take it back to their hands.
